

The Walmer Science College Science Teachers, Mrs Jacqui Watson and Mrs Lynne Williams, have been able to take out the new exciting Supersonic Revision

Kits to our local primary schools, showing the staff their how to use them. Once trained, staff can then borrow more packs to aid revision for the Primary School children and help with their Key Stage 2 SATs and transition to Secondary School science. Students work in groups spending about ten minutes on each activity which is then checked by a member of staff, before moving on to the next activity. Students have really enjoyed the packs and the more independent approach to their learning.
